

Electronic & Digital Directories

EEC Industries continues in our commitment to offer you the latest in signage innovation. With technically advanced and aesthetically exciting meeting room and events displays you can create an interesting focal point providing the important information your guests require.

Our unique NetDirectory communicates wirelessly to your existing computers using a simple user interface. With the ultra thin flat LCD screen and onboard microcomputer, the technology can be adapted to an endless variety of design concepts to compliment your decor.

LED computerized event displays provide the ability to control numerous signs and reader boards from a central small desktop computer. They also have the ability to interface with major electronic function books (Delphi, Miracle, Logistic, etc.)

For maximum impact and graphic flexibility, plasma displays can incorporate pictures, animation and sound to attract your guests and make your information more exciting and helpful. With a variety of screen sizes we have the solutions to your digital display needs.
